

Taikang Healthcare Global Recruitment

Taikang Healthcare, a subsidiary of Taikang Insurance Group, is actively seeking dedicated individuals. Established in 1996 as China's innovative insurance and financial services group, Taikang offers insurance, asset management, healthcare, and elderly care. Based in Beijing, we have been consistently ranked on the Fortune Global 500 list for six years. Taikang aims to play a key role in improving people's lives by promoting a healthier, longer, and wealthier life experience for everyone.

As of now, Taikang has established five major medical centers and three specialized systems for rehabilitation, oral health, and neurology throughout the country. Our goal is to create an integrated medical, educational, and research institution that merges medical insurance and elderly care. We specialize in medicine for longevity and age-related health issues, striving to construct a comprehensive longevity health system.

OUR STRENGTHS

Integrating Healthcare, Education, and Research

• Leadership:

Under the guidance of Academician Song Baoliang, we are cultivating world-class life medicine teaching and research institutions at Wuhan University Taikang Medical College and Taikang Life Medicine Center, serving as the central engines for Taikang Healthcare's research endeavours.

• Bilateral Employment-Appointment Mechanism:

Experts who join us will have the opportunity to apply for positions such as professors/graduate supervisors at prestigious institutions including Wuhan University and Nanjing University, accompanied by respective teaching and research privileges.

• Cooperation:

Our collaboration network spans prominent institutions:

Domestic: Wuhan University, Nanjing University, and the others.

Overseas: Cedar-Sinai Medical Center, Mount Sinai Health System, and more.

Business Model

- Backed by Fortune Global 500 insurance companies, we are spearheading the creation of an innovative "payment + service" healthcare model.
- Our focus is on creating a fully integrated, top-tier medical institution with a strong emphasis on medical education and research.
- In alignment with the trends of the longevity era and the global insurance and healthcare industry, we are innovatively bridging the gap between payments and services.
- We aim to provide universal access to high-quality healthcare services for the public, while also catering to diverse service needs at various levels.

- Our healthcare strategy encompasses comprehensive hospitals, specialized healthcare facilities, retirement communities, nursing institutions, end-of-life care, and health management, covering the entire healthcare lifecycle.
